TIDY TOWNS

Tasmania's Minister for Tourism, Mr. Geoff Pearsall says the State's tourist industry has been encouraged by the results of the Tasmanian Tidy Towns competition.

Speaking after the launching of the 1985 event, the Minister said the development of the competition during the past five years had made a considerable contribution to the attraction Tasmania presented to visitors.

"There is no doubt this State is seen by tourists as among the most beautiful of all Australian holiday destinations, not the least because it is comparatively clean and unspoilt," he said.

The Minister said the Government had decided to increase prize money for the Tasmanian Tidy Towns competition because of the strong response from the community.

"This year the Keep Australia Beautiful Council will offer an additional $2,000 in prizemoney, in an effort to continue the beautification program of Tasmanian cities and towns," Mr. Pearsall said.

Tasmanian Tidy Towns, which is run in conjunction with the Department of Tourism will provide $8,000 to groups improving pride in their population areas.

Mr Pearsall said the awards not only recognised and rewarded beautification efforts, but provided a reason for schools, local government, service and community groups to improve the look of their communities.

He said fifty four entries had been received in the 1984 competition which had been won for the second consecutive year by the township of Mole Creek in Tasmania's Central North.

"The subsequent increase in visitors, shown by the Mole Creek open day in February, is something all areas of this State should work for, and will be rewarded through the Tidy Towns competition," the Minister said.

TASMANIAN TIMBERS

Tasmanians should be proud of the fact that the State's timbers are to grace the new Parliament House, according to Mr Max Burr, MHR for Lyons.

"When completed, the new building will be the show piece of Australia. Visitors from all over the world will see the grandeur of select Tasmanian timbers in the structure and the loose furniture.

"Emphasis is being given to the use of timbers in a manner which highlights their natural beauty."

Mr Burr said that because Myrtle Beech, Huon Pine and Celery Top Pine had been mentioned there had been an immediate cry of rape of the forests.

"The timber being used is coming from stocks existing with present logging operators.

"The 1180 square metres of Huon Pine veneer is coming from a large stock of well cured timber in the State.

"The 8.7 cubic metres of Myrtle Beech, to be used in the manufacture of loose furniture, will come from cured stocks that fit within the timetable.

"The project architects developed their proposed use of Tasmanian timbers after advice from the State forestry authorities as to the normal availability of the timber required."

LITTER CONTROL

The action of the Litter Research Association seems to have created an impression that industry generally has withdrawn its financial support to the Keep Australia Beautiful Council in this State - that is an incorrect assumption.

Whilst the Litter Research Association has reduced the extent of its support from $84,000 to a guaranteed $10,000 the facts are that in this first year of the agreement with the Government, the Assoc. has exceeded its grant of $10,000 to the Keep Australia Beautiful Council by an amount slightly in excess of $3,000 and industry generally has continued with its financial assistance.

Some of these could be even before that but we did not have the time to follow them up. One more thing I must mention is the ridiculous vandalism that is going on at our recreation ground. We have a small band of workers who have been working every weekend lately and trying to get things looking very well for Jan. 1st next, only to see it destroyed by ignorant, self-centred few who think only of their own pleasure and who will have to be dealt with if it continues.

The liquor booth and both ends of grandstand smashed, doors and windows in the football sheds and much more. Surely it has to stop. Also the car drivers; young and old who use the grounds for speedways. Why?

The St. Marys Tennis Club looks forward to the coming season now that the old library has been made available for use as clubrooms and improvements to the old court are almost completed.

The East Coast Pennant roster commences on Sunday November 3rd but it is disappointing that St. Marys is only able to field one team this year as four of the regular pennant players have left the district and others have retired from pennant.

We urge young and old players to join our Club and to take use of the good facilities available. Members have worked hard to get a second court and to keep the other court in good repair and we need fresh new players to ensure that tennis continues as an important sport in the future.

Subscriptions are as follows and can be paid to any of the following:-
Neil Stewart, Maureen Bushing,

NURSING MOTHERS ASSOCIATION OF AUSTRALIA.

"Breastfeeding should be actively promoted in the community" stated the National Health & Medical Research Council in June, 1984. The NH & MRC'S new Guidelines to promote breastfeeding deal with care of the mother before, during and after confinement plus improved education about breastfeeding for everyone from doctors and nurses to school children.

In Australia today nearly nine out of every ten babies are breastfed when they leave hospital. Within weeks, half these babies are prematurely weaned when their mothers don't receive the encouragement, support and consistent advice at this time.

Improvements are on the way. An International Code exists to control the advertising and marketing practices which have undermined breastfeeding for decades.

The NH & MRC, Australia's top health advisory body, considers that the nutritional, immunological and economic benefits are well documented. In fact breastfeeding is number one in the Australian Dietary Guidelines. There is no better start to good health than this natural food in the security of mother's arms.

For twenty years the Nursing Mother's Association of Australia has been improving general knowledge of the importance of breastfeeding. BREAST *-FEEDING AWARENESS MONTH in Oct is being held to remind Australia of the unique contribution to the health of future Australians made by every nursing mother.

Your local group would like to take this opportunity to welcome all mothers and other interested persons in the Fingal Valley- East Coast areas to its monthly meetings normally held on the first Thursday of each month at 1.30pm. Libby Van Tienen, The Flat, St Marys is a locality mother for the St Marys area and would only be happy to help give support and information referral about N.M.A.A. For further enquiries ring June Mc Naught 725181 or June Watts 725248.
