HYDATID TESTING ON THE EAST COAST

by Tim McManus,
Veterinary Officer,
Department of Agriculture.

During the past 18 months, officers from the Animal Health Division of the Department of Agriculture have been testing East Coast dogs for hydatid tapeworms.

So far, 260 dogs have been tested from the Municipality of Glamorgan and nearly 600 from the Municipality of Fingal. No positives have been detected.

This pleasing situation is also reflected by a big reduction in the prevalence of hydatid cysts in local sheep. Formerly about two thirds of all full-mouth sheep in the district, had cysts in their lungs or liver.

Now positive cyst reports from abattoirs are rare, and of all the thousands of sheep inspected at slaughter from the three central East Coast municipalities in the past 12 months, only four had hydatids.

The next stage will be the screening of dogs in the Portland Municipality. Before this can begin however, a survey will be necessary to ensure no dogs are missed.

From Monday June 24 then, Animal Health Division Field Officers will be door-knocking, first in St. Helens and later in other Portland towns, in an endeavour to locate all the dog owners.

It must be emphasised that this is not a licence check. We merely want to ensure no dog is omitted from our testing list, because it just could be a positive one, and what a terrible thing that would be.

So please cooperate with the officers in their tedious task. They are doing it to safeguard your health and that of your children.

Finally, a word about dog-control which regrettably has not improved over the years. Every East Coast town seems to have its compliment of wandering pooches which, apart from the mess they cause are a very bad advertisement for our Tourist Industry.

Even worse, last week three large town-dogs were observed straying near a paddock of ewes, soon due to lamb. Dogs which cause road accidents or kill sheep, often pay the supreme penalty.

Unfortunately, the reaction of their neglectful owners is frequently to acquire another dog.

ALCOHOL IS A DRUG

In the long list of drugs which are socially acceptable ALCOHOL has a place near the top. It is a very long way from being a newcomer. Many people don't like it being called a drug at all, but it clearly and emphatically is one.

When used with good sense and in moderation alcohol appears to do little harm. But when people drink just to get a lift, to appear smart to their friends, to make them feel more important or to forget all about the troubles they should be trying to put right, they are clearly using alcohol as an escape from real life. It is this type of drinking that leads to dependence on alcohol and, although it may provide a passing comfort for the drinker, the real reason for the drinking soon becomes plain to his family, even to the children, who can be very observant.

There are less dramatic ways of developing an alcohol habit which slowly but surely leads to addiction. Consider the housewife and mother who has to have a sherry at six-o'clock, in order to get through the evening. This doesn't mean a quiet, family pre-dinner drink but a growing deliberate and compulsive use of alcohol as a necessary aid to living.

It is claimed by the American National Council on Alcoholism that when parents drink in a cultured and civilised atmosphere and not as part of a mood-lifting ritual, their children rarely become alcoholics. But both in Australia and elsewhere, studies show that in a home where adults drink purely for the 'kicks', in a pattern of repeated and regular revelry, children are likely to follow the same pattern as their elders.

SPORTS

NETBALL NEWS

by 'On Court'

The match between St. Marys and Avoca was indeed a pleasure to watch. The Tigers were a different team. They played exceptionally well, no player being more outstanding than another. Team work and effort saw St. Marys easily account for Avoca by 42 goals. Although Avoca tried, they couldn't stop the Tigers as they were IN TUNE. Full credit for this must go to the girls and their coach Sandra Gillies and her assistant Sue Fisher.

The last game of the second round saw St. Marys travel to Swansea. Although the team was not the same as that which defeated Avoca it was still a winning team. The Tigers defeated Swansea by only 2 goals. This was a very even game with St. Marys taking an early lead. Although Swansea reduced this lead to two, St. Marys managed to hang on in the final minutes and take the game.

This weekend will see 2 combined sides from within our association play each other in a social game. This will be played on the top court at St. Marys High School. The game will start at 11.00am and have two 20 minute halves. The combined Swansea, St. Marys and Avoca team will wear Avoca's uniform, while the combined St. Helens, Campbelltown and Fingal team will wear Campbell Town's uniform. All players and supporters are urged to come along and encourage their respective players and team. The ladder at the end of the second round is:-

FINGAL	34

CAMPBELLTOWN	24
ST. MARYS	22
SWANSEA	12
AVOCA	10

CENTENARY ARBOR DAY:

1985 is the centenary of the Tasmanian Education Department. During the year there will be a wide range of activities involving schools, children and the communities of schools. Centenary Arbor Day is one of those activities. We believe it will probably be the activity that involves most schools and communities. One hundred and eighty seven Education Department schools, twenty four private schools and twenty four municipal councils are taking part. In all about 40,000 trees will be planted.

The first Arbor Day was held in the United States in the state of Nebraska in 1872. We are not quite sure when Arbor Days began in Australia although we do know of plantings which occurred in Ballarat in 1890. We believe the first Arbor Days in Tasmania were held in the early nineteen hundreds. In more recent times Arbor Day has changed to become Conservation Day and then Conservation Week. The reason that Arbor Day has become part of the 1985 centenary celebrations is because it was a significant event in our schools in earlier times and should be part of our reflections on education in Tasmania during the past hundred years.

The word arbor derives from Latin and means tree. The aim of early Arbor Days was to make children more conscious of the value of trees. Virtually since human life began man has been a destroyer of trees. We destroyed trees because we wished to put their wood, bark, leaves or sap to other uses. We destroyed them because we wished to put the land they occupied to other uses. In more recent times this destruction has reached such dimensions that we are seriously threatening the ecology and the life systems of our world.

Concern that this was occurring caused the change in emphasis from trees to conservation issues more generally. Thus about 25 years ago Arbor Days became Conservation Days and wise use of all resources became the theme for the day. We might ask, what has been achieved? The United Nations became so concerned for the future of trees that 1982 was designated the Year of the Tree. The consciousness of all people on the significance of trees is of paramount importance.

We hope that our school's participation in this Centenary Arbor Day will be the culmination of a wide range of activities for children to increase their consciousness of the importance of trees.

THE IMPORTANCE OF TREES:

Trees are our most vital natural resource. Their propagation and preservation must be continued with increased enthusiasm.

Children are the most important people to undertake this task as they are the future keepers of our environment.

THE USES OF TREES - Trees can produce more food per hectare than any other crop, with much less human effort required. This is because they can stack layers of foliage one above the other and their roots thrust deep into the soil in search of nutrients and water.

WATER - Trees play a major role in the water cycle. Moisture loss around them is reduced and some increase in rainfall may result. Wholesale clearance of forests causes the land to dry out. Most of the world's deserts were formerly forests or woodlands.

OXYGEN - Trees purify the atmosphere and release oxygen in the process of photosynthesis. The current wholesale clearance of forests, particularly in the Amazon Basin is causing concern that oxygen/carbon dioxide ratios may be changed.

HOUSING - Trees play a major role in housing the world's human population, whether as sawn timber, particle board, plywood, palm thatching, bark slabs.

SHADE AND SHELTER:- Trees have important microclimatic functions in protecting adjacent areas from extreme winds and temperatures. They can make areas of human habitation more pleasant and increase agricultural productivity by providing shelter to livestock and crops.

FINGAL VALLEY POLICE & CITIZENS YOUTH CLUB

Youth Club will recommence on Monday June 24th with a video at 3.30pm at CYSS Hall for juniors and 6.30pm for seniors.

We have on our programme this term, several new ideas, they include a rock & roll night for our break up, so kids get mum and dad to get out their 50's gear, also Charlotte's 'Stupid Night', these are the ideas of Mrs. Charlotte Jones and should prove very entertaining. Inspector John Kruse has organised a new game for the seniors called 'Thinkies'.

Sergeant J. Byrne who has been relieving in the area for the last few weeks will be showing part of his collection of badges, caps, flags etc., from all over the world, these will be shown to both senior and juniors in the R.S.L. Hall at 6pm to 7pm on July 1st. This is a collection well worth seeing. Parents may also attend.

Air Rifle Shooting will commence on June 26th at 5pm at the Youth Club Hall. J. Kruse, B. Glatte and F. Stingle will train the team this year, for the State competition in November at the Police Academy in Hobart. It is hoped in the near future that a Tasmanian Air Rifle team will be sent interstate for an Australian wide competition.

The Drug Squad will return to lecture on Drug Abuse and show a film on the 22nd July at 6.30pm in the R.S.L. Hall, further details for this at a later date.

We will again be taking the Grades 5 & 6 and seniors swimming at St. Helens, the date for these sessions will be on July 8 and 29. Parents please do not send your children unless they can swim, or let us know before hand for the safety of your child.

On August 18th (Sunday) both Junior and Seniors will be going on a trip to Launceston, this will include a visit to the Airport and also Roller World.

NEXT MEETING 7PM 4 JULY at HOTEL.

The Youth Club Cross Country will be held at Longford on July 14th at 11.00am. A bus will be leaving from the St. Marys Police Station at 8.30am. Children will need to take a cut lunch.
