ST MARYS RED CROSS (1987)

The Red Cross, St. Marys has been in existence for about forty-eight years.

The branch was originally commenced during the first World War, 1914-1918. The branch lapsed for a few years but resumed activities again in the early part of the second World War, 1939-1945.

During that time the St. Marys branch contributed both knitting and sewing to the local hospital. During the war years members sent food parcels to the soldiers on active duty.

In the early days, funds were raised by means of street stalls and later euchre nights. These nights proved very popular, and would be well remembered by many of our more senior citizens. Nowadays the only method of raising money is the Annual Appeal and generous donations.

For several years the branch held a Christmas party with a tree and gifts for hospital patients. During the Vietnam War the branch sent the soldiers Christmas cakes.

Following the second World War, the Ambulance Service was established and is still actively maintained and free to residents of the Fingal Municipality. There have been several different ambulances over the years, about five including the current vehicle. It is envisaged that a second vehicle may be acquired in the future.

The Red Cross blood donor service has been in existence for about twenty five years, initiated by Dr. Lawson. The blood donor service, a very valuable service, is held in St. Marys three to four times a year. Trained staff travel to the area for the Monday evening sessions and the staff are aided by local Red Cross members. A donor has to be over 18 years of age, and all are initially and continuously screened to ensure maximum health and service.

Red Cross, through the main branches in Launceston and Hobart, provides disabled persons with an assortment of aids including wheelchairs, crutches, walking sticks and walking frames. This service is available through the Red Cross Secretary, Local Hospital Community Service or Red Cross Offices direct.

The extensive library at the St. Marys District Hospital is supplied by Red Cross and includes many large print books for those with sight problems. The books are replenished with help of local branch members bi-annually.

The members meet every second month, in the evening, in their own time. The voluntary ambulance drivers meet at least monthly and attend courses as need arises. The drivers, drive, or man the ambulance when required, on a roster basis. It is preferable that drivers hold a current first-aid certificate because of the demands of society in general.

The Red Cross supplies a public service on a voluntary basis and should an emergency situation arise the members rally immediately to help in any way possible. They frequently help people and families in crisis.

Should a bush fire arise in the area, for example, the Red Cross stand by and supply help, usually food, fluids, first aid and emotional support.

A junior Red Cross was formed in St. Marys several years ago by a St. Marys District High School Principle, Mr Heazlewood and his wife, but lapsed after one year when the Heazlewoods left the district. A very active junior group was attached to Fingal Primary School, for many years, and supplied many comforts and visits to the St. Marys District Hospital patients. The St. Marys junior Red Cross group attempted to reform on several occasions, the last one being successful, in July of 1987.

The Red Cross, St. Marys Branch, is always on the look out for interested members.

THE ST. MARYS FOOTBALL CLUB

REPORT ON THE ANNUAL DINNER.

WOW! WHAT A NIGHT! On Saturday August 29, 1987, approx. 250 people converged on the Community Hall at St. Marys, to partake of excellent food, 'rocking' good music and good company to celebrate, with the end of season function.

The hall was filled to capacity, I'm sure there wouldn't have been room for one more sardine!

Traditionally decked out in gold and black, the 'old' hall came up rather well, and with the addition of the crowd dressed in their finery, it was a fine sight to behold.

In attendance were Mr George Shaw and his wife Joyce, Mr Michael Polley, M.H.R., Mr & Mrs Peter Bowles, Chairman of Selectors of the Longford Football Club and General Manager of Fotheringhams, Mr & Mrs Stephen Salter, Stephen is the President of the F.D.F.A.

Speeches were given by several people, including the Patron of the Club, Mr Gordon Salter. All praised the club as one of the best in the State, and Mr Gary Richards received a standing ovation when Mr Bowles said he thought Gary was the best Secretary any club could have.

The coaches of the three teams were praised highly for their efforts in bringing the teams to the finals, with the Reserves winning the 1987 Premiership under the guidance of Alan Lynch.

Life Memberships were awarded to Mr Brian Birrell, Mr George Toombs, and Mr Michael Schier, with 60 years combined service to the club.

The club would like to thank the caterer, Jenny Dawe and her staff for the wonderful meal and service through the night. There couldn't possibly be any complaints about anything. Thanks to the band for being patient while the formalities were taking place, and the music was first class.

Here is a list of the trophy winners and the donors. Thanks to all who helped in any way, it is most appreciated, and congratulations to all winners.

May Cook has also reduced during the Championship and our congratulations May for the excellent golf played during the 4 days. We had a great attendance during the Championships and some good golf was played by most golfers and Colleen McGee won the Club Spoon from Yonne Davern, who won 3 rounds of the Club spoon previously. CORROBOREE

by Vaughan Semmens, Grade 4

Aborigines dancing,
 Stamping their feet,
 Click, click, bang, bang,
 Hitting their sticks together,
 Kneeling in a circle
 Painted faces,
 Wearing kangaroo skins,
 Didgeridoos,
 Roasting kangaroos,
 From their hunting spears,
 It's scary, they might see me and catch me.
