EDITORIAL

1972 promises more restrictions on motorists. Minister for Road Safety, Dr. Abbott, has made this clear in recent press releases. The new restrictions will, according to Dr. Abbott, include the lowering of the permissible alcohol intake of drinking drivers, more road worthy checks on vehicles and on the spot fines for breaches of the traffic code.

Even though the Xmas-New Year holiday period was not a bad one for major accidents, 1971 was a record year for road deaths. Any measures, restrictions or otherwise, that would cause a fall in this record high level would be acceptable for the majority of drivers. But surely more restrictions would be easier for the driver to take if now and again Dr. Abbott was heard to condemn some of the other factors that contribute to accidents. For instance the increasing practise of car manufacturers to accentuate power and speed in their product continues unchecked.

Successive new models are now even fitted and painted to resemble racing cars with, it seems, absolute impunity. This factor coupled with the many second rate highways that exist in Tasmanian can ONLY aggravate road accidents and deaths.

Yet Dr. Abbott continues to remain curiously reticent about mentioning these aspects of road safety.

TOUCHE'

Caravans seem to get progressively larger each year and one of the very largest variety was seen in trouble at the bottom end of the Elephant Pass last week. The not so big car pulling it had simply given up. Fortunately for the owner he was able to enlist the aid of a larger and more powerful car to pull his van over the Pass.

Later in St. Marys the van owner expressed his dilemma. "We were heading for St. Helens", he said, "I don't know what to do now. If we go down St. Marys Pass we may never get out again". But he went anyway. Perhaps St. Helens has acquired a permanent new family!

"A GUIDE POST!" "A TELEGRAPH POLE!"

"For goodness sake don't mention my name" he said. So we won't. But he was a well known football veteran whose record for lack of injuries during his career was almost phenomenal. How then did he get a broken arm? Well you see, when he was playing tennis he stepped back quickly to retrieve a tricky return twisted his ankle and fell on his arm!

INCIDENTLY the Mr. Grey from South Aust. whose story is in 'Just Yarnin' this issue is now 70 years old. The main reason he came back to Tasmania was to compete in the Australian Shooting Championships at Pontville where he won the Veterans Trophy. The other reason, of course, was to visit his sister at Cornwall. However there was a third reason and that reason was why he was in Falmouth when we saw him. He was enquiring from a Falmouth resident about a classified ad. he saw in The Valley Voice in S.A. Ah, the power of advertising!

Sir,

In the last copy of your paper a writer pointed out some of your errors in the copy previous to that one. However did not "Gram-ma" slip? Surely her/his punctuations should have been outside the brackets? And if anyone finds mistakes in this letter, I for one -

Dear Sir,

I have spent the last month hitchhiking around your beautiful state and have been very impressed with the beauty of the scenery, the hospitality of the local people and the wonderful clean air.

But I am dreadfully upset at seeing your beautiful countryside despoiled with litter, especially beer cans and other drink containers. If people must drink alcohol whilst travelling, surely it is not too much to ask that these people at least leave their unsightly cans in their own cars until they return home.

Looking Back:

Looking back across the year,
 We see the past unfold -
 The darkness of the burdened hours,
 The grey days and the gold -
 The dreams we dreamed, the tears we shed,
 The sunshine and the rain -
 The sorrow and the ecstasy,
 The sweetness and the pain.
 There's agony and heartbreak in the things we would forget -
 The longing for a loved one,
 And the stabbings of regret.
 So let's look forward - onward -
 Richer for each memory -
 And seek the promised glory of the things that are to be.

May the New Year of 1972 bring you much happiness and joy as you enjoy the blessings of the Almighty.

TIPPING CARDS

Secretary of St. Marys District School
 Parents and Friends Association, Mr.
 John Hayden reports that the new tipping cards competition for raising money for the association is going reasonably well but it seems many people are still not aware of this weekly competition.

Basically it is a very simple game to play. Mr. Hayden said, all the person has to do is purchase a 20 cent card and fill in the eight spaces provided in the card with the names of the horses he thinks will win the eight Melbourne metropolitan races that week. The highest score wins the money.

Cards and further information about these tipping cards may be obtained from either Davern's shop or Miles' shop, St. Marys.

During December $20 was paid out in prizes and as the number of participants increases so will the amount paid out, Mr. Hayden said.

RUTH AND GEOFF GILL WISH ALL THEIR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS A VERY PROSPEROUS
 NEW YEAR AND THANK YOU FOR CUSTOM AND INTEREST DURING 1971.

ARE YOU GETTING READY FOR THE COMING SCHOOL TERM.

WANTED....Readers Digests. Have you any old copies of Readers Digests for use in

SCAMANDER NOTES

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Scamander Progress Association conducted a successful street stall at Scamander on Jan. 8th.
 This, with the sale of lucky leis at an Hawaiian Night at the Scamander Hotel netted a good profit.

The winner of the dressed lamb was C.
 Luttrell of Scamander. Mrs. Plumpton Wrinklers Beach, won a bottle of champagne as the holder of the lucky lei.

We wish to express our appreciation to all those people who helped so generously with gifts and cash donations. Special thanks to the Four Seasons Hotel management and staff for their wonderful cooperation.

N. Hardman,

JIGSAW LEARNING

A new teaching aid that instructs young children in the basics of inorganic chemistry has been introduced by Creaco, Inc., of Odense, Denmark. Three instructors from Odense University devised the teaching kit in which interlocking plastic pieces, which carry the chemical symbols from 70 ions, are used to build visual representations of various chemical compounds. The kit, called Chem-play, is so designed that only those pieces representing ions that can be compounded with others will fit together. Creaco, Inc., says tests have shown that a 9 year old youngster quickly learns to build and understand chemical formulas as complex as  $Ca_3(PO_4)_2$ .

FOLLOW THAT HORSE

Some years ago the owner of a racing stable in America engaged the famous American jockey Eddie Arcaro to ride his entry in a race.

Before the horses went to the post, the owner carefully briefed Arcaro on tactics -

"Get into 4th position at the 1st turn.
 Stay there until the home turn. Then make your move as you head into the straight and you'll win going away."

Arcaro nodded confidently - and went on to finish last!!!

The owner came storming up to him after the race.

"I told you exactly what to do," he spluttered. "You were supposed to stay in 4th position until the last turn and then take the lead as you came into the straight!!!"

"What?" demanded Arcaro. "And leave the horse?"

Just Yarnin'

Talking to Mr Albert Gray from South Australia who is visiting his sister Mrs Scales of Cornwall. We met him at Falmouth recently.

"My Grandfather was accused and convicted of stealing a nest of turkey's eggs in England. For this terrible crime he was transported to Van Diemens Land eventually to finish up at Pt. Puer, Port Arthur. He was only about 14 at the time of his conviction.

"Fortunately for him a Major Mitchell of Lisdillen, Swansea took him from Pt. Puer when he was 16. My Grandfather was happy working on Major Mitchell's property and stayed there for quite a while. He eventually married and fathered eight children. My father was one of these children.

When my father grew up he worked on Steele's property at Falmouth. We left there when I was 11. Incidentally we went to Falmouth after having lived just out of St Marys. The township of Gray as it is now called. It was probably named after my family's name.

Eventually we moved to Mt. Nicholas where I attended school and later at 14 went to work in the coal mine there until I went off to the First World War. I remember many stories around this district and one of them that sticks in my mind is the time an old mine (the explosive kind) was washed up on the rocks near Maraposa.

I remember Mr Chester a photographer in St Marys at the time recording the whole thing on film. He only got one or two photos though for when he was loading his camera again the policeman, also from St Marys, hit the mine with his first shot. The explosion caused Mr Chester to fall over amongst his equipment. Us kids enjoyed it thoroughly.

Talking about shooting, I also remember Mr Bill Panten shooting swans in the lagoon at Falmouth from his house roof up on the hill. It was 800 yards if it was a foot. By golly that man could shoot. I also remember the old jail at Falmouth. When we were kids we found some hand cuffs and leg irons around the place. Best of all though, we found an old single shot revolver and caps. The revolver was still workable. We used to shove paper and shot down the barrel and shoot rabbits with it, when we could get close enough to them.

One hundred lived at Falmouth in those days and it was quite common to have picnics on the beach with up to 50 people joining in the fun. They were good days in Falmouth in those times. It seems a lot quieter now."

THE LITTLE RITUALS OF BEAUTY

Wish you knew more about personal grooming?

At least one night a week, make you bath a beauty ritual.

1. Fill the tub with warm water and add your favourite bubble bath, water softener or bath oil.
2. If your hair is in need of special conditioning, now is the time for a treatment.
3. Lie back, let your muscles relax. Flex and extend your toes to rest your feet and calf muscles.
4. Use a rough cloth, bath mitt, sponge or brush to thoroughly cleanse your back of heels, and soles of feet.
5. Finish with moisturizing body lotion if your skin is dry - a liquid freshener or powder if your skin is oily.

Deodorants control body odour and should be used daily after your shower or bath on armpits, where the special oil glands that go into action in early adolescence tend to give perspiration an unpleasant odour. Deodorants come in many forms - creams, pads, liquids, spray, roll-on and powder. A powder is the best type to use on your feet.

Antiperspirants control underarm perspiration. Some antiperspirants also contain a deodorant.

Depilatories are agents for the temporary removal of unwanted hair. In cream form they spread on the surface where hair is to be removed and allowed to remain for a prescribed length of time. Cream and hair are then removed together. This method is often used to remove hair on legs. Other methods include shaving with an electric or safety razor. If you use a safety razor under arms and on legs, always use shaving cream to prevent irritation.

Bleaches offer the most practical method of making downy fuzz on your upper lip inconspicuous. There are specially formulated products for this purpose.

Mouthwashes, used after brushing your teeth or eating, are extra insurance for fresh breath. They're available in purse-carrying size and in miniature spray dispensers.

Pretty hands win compliments. It's worth your time to give them proper care and attention. Your feet need beauty treatments too, especially during sandal season.

The manicure calls for washing your hands gently in warm water, and using a nail brush to keep your nails clean. Dry thoroughly and rub in hand cream or lotion. For nails:

- Remove any old polish and file nails to a neat oval.
- Soak hands in sudsy water to soften cuticle. (If you manicure after your bath, this step is not necessary.)
- Use an orangewood stick wrapped with cotton to push back cuticle and clean under nails.
- Wash and dry hands again. Apply clear nail polish for natural-looking nails. If you choose coloured polish, apply undercoating first. Stroke polish down centre of each nail and fill in sides - cover the whole nail. A pale shade is best for everyday, and frosted shades are fun for parties.

RECIPES

Rhubarb and Raspberry Crumble:

- 1½ lb rhubarb
- 4 oz caster sugar
- 1 pkt of fresh raspberries
- 4 oz plain flour
- 4 oz wholewheat flour
- 4 oz margarine
- 4 oz soft brown sugar

Cut rhubarb and place with raspberries in shallow ovenproof dish.

Mix flours together and rub in margarine. Stir in soft brown sugar and dust mixture thickly over fruit.

Bake in moderately hot oven - 380° for ¾ hour, until juice starts to bubble through crumble top.

Rhubarb mixes well with most fruits. The best spices to use with it are ginger, cinnamon and ground cloves.

Fresh Forced Rhubarb:

Cut rhubarb and place in oven proof dish with caster sugar or redcurrant jelly but no water. Cover tightly and cook in moderate oven - 355° until tender - about ½ hour.

RIFLE SHOOTING

The annual shoot for the Cullenswood Cup resulted in a win for Terry Johnstone of Fingal, his third in succession. #### ARE YOU USING THE RIGHT PROPELLER FOR YOUR BOAT?

A lower pitch is nearly always required for water skiing.

Most standard propellers tend to be too high in pitch for skiing.

This is designed to avoid over-revving if the motor is fitted to a light craft.

Generally, on standard runabouts a propeller 2 inches less in pitch than standard would give the best results for acceleration and load carrying with skiers.

SOME FACTS ABOUT EGGS.

1. "Is a brown egg better value than a white one?"

No. Some breeds of hen lay brown eggs, others white eggs, and cross-breeds lay eggs of in-between colours. It's as simple as that. The inner quality of the egg is not affected by the colour of the shell.

2. "Which is better food value, the yolk or white?"

The yolk contains a greater concentration of nutriment than the white. Most of the vitamins, the fat and the minerals concerned with building blood, bones and teeth are found in it - this is why an egg yolk is the first addition to the milk and cereal diet of babies. The white is a rich source of protein and minerals. Nutritionally, eggs are good value for money.

3. "Why are some yolks paler than others?"

This depends entirely on the diet of the hen. It has no connection with the freshness or the nutritive value of the egg.

4. "Can you test the freshness of an egg in shell?"

Yes, easily. Lay it gently in a bowl of cold water and watch whether it sinks or swims. A really fresh egg will lie flat on its side on the bottom of the bowl. A not so fresh egg will rise slightly at one end, and a really stale egg will stand upright or float.

5. "Why is the white sometimes thin and runny?"

When you break a fresh egg on to a plate, the yolk is supported and surrounded by a thick, firm and compact white. As the egg becomes thinner and spreads over the plate. But staleness is not necessarily the result of age: a fresh egg can become stale very quickly if kept in too warm a place.

6. "What is the best way to buy and store eggs?"

Buy them in small quantities, frequently. And keep them in a cool place. A refrigerator is ideal so long as you keep them well away from the freezer. Store them pointed end downwards, preferably in an egg rack or box. And keep them away from strong smelling foods, as eggs have porous shells and absorb smells. Try to remember to let the eggs 'warm up' to room temperature before boiling or whisking them or using them in a cake.

7. "Why do egg whites sometimes fail to whisk stiffly?"

Usually, because of the presence of some fat - a speck of yolk or grease from the basin or whisk.

You may be at your most carefree during the first two weeks, happy with friends and family. Your leadership potential is going to show out strongly after that, and you may be given a new opportunity to use it.

AQUARIUS: January 20 - February 18

You can be quite obstinate about a matter of concern to you even though the rest of the family do not approve. You may upset the life of a younger relative because of this. Don't expect too much of others now.

PISCES: February 19 - March 20

Make a point of practicality, review some mistakes you've made to see what you learn from them. Do not repeat an error of the past in your relationships. You may be thrown in with charming personalities.
