Local Brothers Tackle Targa for the second time!

With Targa Tasmania 2011 being a "toe in the water" test, Randal and I tackled Targa 2012 with a lot more knowledge of how it all worked.

With a better idea of what we could deliver, I approached a couple of Caltex St.Marys' biggest suppliers and managed to secure sizeable sponsorship packages from Tasmanian owned Caltex fuel supplier: Caltas, Australian owned Lubricants manufacturer; Penrite and Launceston owned tyre supplier; Goodyear Launceston.

Although the Tour section of Targa is one of the most affordable forms of motorsport, preparing to take part still adds up to a few dollars, so without our sponsors our resources and limited incomes would have been stretched and it may not have happened, so the assistance was appreciated.

Although we were a bit early to see any locals going through St.Marys (apart from postmaster Harry!), it was great to catch up with quite a few friends and supporters at the late morning lunch stop at St.Helens, and once again the positive feedback, interest and support from locals has been fantastic.

Targa 2012 has been the longest so far with almost 2500km covered by us in 6 days, which is not as big of a deal on a mainland run but is much more challenging on the tight roads of Tasmania. It certainly took its toll on us with 4:30am to 6:00am starts each morning.

The almost 40 year old Falcon GT performed admirably with only a front power window malfunction (a loose electrical plug), and a loose front sway bar bracket which was easily fixed by Pedders in Launceston.

As we were amongst the earliest cars to complete the Georgetown and Longford street stages, we could park the car and watch the remaining cars go through. It was very evident that the classic Ford and General Motors muscle cars from both Australia and the USA had the strongest support. The numerous Porsches, Lancer Evos and Subaru Wrxs were not receiving much attention from the crowd despite these cars being great performers and very popular amongst drivers.

The week delivered the expected combination of great roads, scenery, people, and cars and new friends! Car enthusiasm is a great leveler with a diverse bunch of people ranging from ordinary working folk like us to multi millionaires getting together with a common healthy interest and often becoming life long friends.

Incidents were nil apart from a near "T bone" on Thursday with an extremely valuable "57 Mercedes 300 SL roadster which had spun just after the Elephant Pass hairpin! Unfortunately, our friends in this car had to pull out on the way to the west coast on Friday as she developed a "death" rattle! Ray and Sue completed Targa in a Camry Hybrid!

Weather was wet most of the time but surprisingly dry for most of the finishing west coast stages on Sunday.

As we both had to front for work on Monday, we missed the festivities on Sunday and Monday evenings, but as we cruised home up the midlands on Sunday evening, my respect and loyalty to Ford V8s was strengthened as after 2500 hard kilometers in its original almost 40 year old condition, the engine and indeed the whole car purred as sweet as ever!

We will be back for a third Targa in 2013 which if completed, will net us a gold plate for three in a row!

We are lucky to have the opportunity and resources to take part in this affordable world class motoring event and I encourage anyone with even a small interest in motoring to give Targa a go as the week was so rewarding in many ways! Cheers, Grant.

ANOTHER PIECE OF HISTORY HAS DISAPPEARED.

Recently, Robert Jones of Irishtown gave our Society a photo of a heap of rubble that was once the proud residence of the Curran family. Their property was nestled in the foothills of St Patricks Head and over the years has been the feature of hundreds of photos taken by people from all over the world who have been brave enough to take the challenge and climb to the summit of our great icon.

Like much of our history, the old house is only a memory now. But, thankfully, we still have the following, which is the history of the Curran family of Irishtown, supplied by Barry Aulich, a nephew of Jim and Bill Curran.

In 1854 a family from Belfast known as the Currans (then spelt with an e) arrived in Hobart on board the Ship Glasmanden. James Curren, aged 29 was a shoemaker and wife Mary Ann was aged 28. They had four children: Owen 7 years, James 5 years, John 4 years and Mary 2 months, who was born at sea.

A few years after arriving in Tasmania they settled near St Patricks Head, but more to the north from the homestead we have all come to know. There used to be an old chimney butt where the original home was and that was shown to Barry Aulich by Jim & Bill Curran in the 1950s.

The James and John from the early records died and another John was born in 1863. It was this John who went on to eventually settle where we know as the Curran House on the way to St Patricks Head. John, or Johnny as he was known, worked with his father James Curran in saw pit work, besides clearing a farm from the heavily forested land. In 1886 Johnny was married to Mary Teresa Connell in the Cullenswood Catholic Church, By Rev. Father Kelch.

The first house the Currans built was burned down in 1895 and a new one was built the same year. Again in November 1933 while the family was in the sitting room a fire happened in the kitchen, But with a good supply of water the fire was extinguished. Fortunately, the building was insured and the Currans received about $70.00 to repair the damage.

The farm was a dairy, running about 50 head of cows, all of which were milked by hand. Electricity was not connected to the house until about the 1980s. It was then that Les Curran (a son of Johnny and Mary) returned to the farm. After enjoying a bit of the real life in the outside world, Les decided that it was time to light up the old farm house.

Les passed away in 1989 aged 85yrs and his brother Bill passed on in 1991 also aged 85yrs. Then Les's son Robert (Bob) came to look after the farm. But Robert found that it was impossible to farm in competition with the wild animals, and decided to sell to the tree farmers, and move on. Obviously, the tree farmers had no use for the old homestead.

Barry remembers it to be a great home to visit, even without electricity, there was always hot water on the stove or open fire and it wasn't long before the boiler was on and the spuds and other veggies were cooking. Meat was a variety from game or the farm, or from the slabs of bacon and hams hanging from the ceiling of the kitchen. No such things as fridges or freezers in those days, but there was always plenty of homemade plum or cherry wine for those who were brave enough to take a swing.

Letters to the Editor

Vol. 45 No 1, May 3, 2012

Dear fellow residents of the Valley,

I understand your concerns about the employment changes due to Break O Day Council financial constraints, and I sympathise with those who feel threatened by the process. A period of economic uncertainty is a very worrying thing for all of us as we struggle to meet the challenge of balancing our personal budgets. I also share your concerns about the impact on our towns of salaries, and potentially families, lost. The flow on effects could be devastating for both businesses and services.

However I must raise one issue... it is not reasonable to verbally assault the partner of an elected representative in the street. If you have a gripe with council processes ring the Mayor, she is, after all, Council's public spokesperson. To verbally assault the spouse or partner of a councillor is very rude and quite inappropriate; to make a mistake and verbally assault the wrong person is the act of an ignorant fool and to scuttle off up the street without a hint of an apology when your error is pointed out to you ... well, good manners and editorial guidelines constrain me from expressing my opinion of that.

By all means fight to preserve jobs in this community but be careful how you go about it; do not attack those who have no more information or capacity to influence the process than you and get your facts straight.

Yours sincerely,
Wendy Fowler.

Cagerattler's Middle East viewing...

Sounds like a very interesting doco on Jerusalem that Cagerattler mentioned in the last Valley Voice. It's been a long time since I worked in Israel, and Jerusalem itself has changed a lot since then. But I've kept up with events there and so might add some thoughts to Cagerattler's, hopefully useful to understanding the furious Middle East situation he mentions.

Firstly, if the doco made Jerusalem's streets look peaceful that's only because Israeli soldiers and police keep a lid on violence there, much to the frustration of many Muslims. The system there heavily backs Jewish interests, and few Israelis would have it any other way. They see Israel as a tiny oasis of safety for Jews in an extremely hostile region, where there is plenty of room for Muslims but only that one small place for themselves.

Local Christians know that if Israel fell then they too would be targets, along with Jews, of a vengeful Muslim majority. Christians are being driven out of many other places in the Middle East, as previously happened to Jews. In the last few weeks, Christians have been attacked at worship in nearby Egypt, and further afield in Nigeria-- by a terrorist group calling itself "Boko Haram," which translates as "books (or the Bible) forbidden."

As for Jews themselves, one leader of the Islamist group Hamas recently suggested that Jews from everywhere should move to Israel. That way, he said, Hamas can be saved the trouble of travelling the world to gun down the rest after Jews in Israel are all wiped out. Try finding some middle ground to negotiate with attitudes like that!

As for Afghanistan, let's never forget what caused the current war. Operating under the nose of that country's Taliban rulers, al-Qaeda trained thousands of terrorists including the murderers of 9-11. Taliban leaders chose to side with Osama bin Laden despite being warned to either turn him over or share in his fate. If Western nations had buckled in reaction to that defiant attitude then terrorists would still be fanning out from Afghanistan, trained to kill yet more Westerners as they've done from Washington to Bali. Who can pity, much less respect, nations who know they're under attack but are too afraid to stand up for themselves?

I share Cagerattler's dim view of Middle East violence and look forward to the day when Australia and other Western democracies can safely turn our backs on the place. Religion at its best and worst thrives in that homeland of three major faiths, and religious violence will sadly go on there for a long time to come.

It's a reminder of the wise observation that if all founding figures of the world's major religions could sit down together today, to talk about what humanity should do right now to make a better world tomorrow, they might not agree on everything-- but they would probably find much more to agree on than certain of their blockheaded followers ever do.

Lew Bretz.

Congratulations to Break O'Day Councillors and the General manager on having the guts and insight to have an Organisational Review.

It is my understanding that this is the first such Review since Portland and Fingal Councils amalgamated about 17 years ago.

The long overdue Review meant changes were inevitable. I'm sure Councillors had to make difficult, complex and painful decisions before they ALL agreed on how to act on the findings of this independent review.

Longstanding questions of mine have now been answered. These questions being:

- Was it necessary for so many council workers to have Council vehicles for after work use?
- Was Council over-employing or under-employing?
- Was Council operating as efficiently and effectively as possible in delivering, maintaining and improving services?

Concerning the Review, I believe ALL Councillors took a responsible and visionary stance as they had the present and long-term interests of the entire municipality to consider. Sadly, this resulted in redundancies and offers of redeployment for some staff.

This loss has impacted on everyone, including Councillors, but we live in a resilient, creative and caring community and by working in unison the people concerned can be supported and encouraged to move positively forward.

It is good to have freedom and opportunities to hold public meetings and have petitions so people can voice their opinions and express their emotions. However, my concern is that if we are not careful we could see a Queensland pre-election scenario.

There, lies were told in order to sow seeds of doubt and mistrust, to discredit and mislead. I hope that no-one in this community would stoop to such measures.

How many people have asked themselves if they would like to be in the shoes of the present Councillors and General manager, coping flack and insults for doing what they believe to be right, responsible and good governance?

How many people have stood or will consider standing for Council in the future believing they are better able to serve the entire municipality than current Councillors?

Truth and righteousness, no matter how painful and confronting, sets people and communities free!

Our present Councillors and General manager need to be steadfast truth speakers and truth seekers. As such their leadership, governance and example will help overcome the divisiveness and ill-will that unfortunately is presently in our community.

Together we all need to restore respect, caring connectedness and cooperation to the community we all love.

Beverley Rubenach.

Former St Marys Resident Molly Forsyth passes away

Molly came to St Marys around 1948 with her pharmacist husband Keith when they purchased the St Marys Pharmacy. At the time they had two small daughters, Robin and Helen and even after the birth of another daughter, Barbara in 1950, Molly worked tirelessly for her customers, always available for that after-hours knock on the door or a shoulder to cry on for a distressed patient. She loved the pharmacy and the people of the district and was a friendly and sympathetic listener to all.

After Keith's untimely death in 1961 Molly continued on in the shop with the help of relieving pharmacists.

Eventually her son-on-law Allan took over the pharmacy and Molly remained in the shop until Allan and Robin (Molly's eldest daughter) sold the pharmacy and moved to Hobart in 1978. Molly went to Melbourne to live with her daughter Barbara and family but always regarded her time at St Marys as one of the happiest and most fulfilling times of her life. She remained a dedicated Tasmanian always. Molly passed away on 29 February 2012 in Melbourne surrounded by her family.

A Message from St Marys Police and the Tasmania Fire Service.

Electrical Home Fire Safety.

At 8:30pm on Wednesday 4 April 2012 Police and Tasmania Fire Service volunteers attended a house fire at U2/19C Groom Street, St Marys. The TFS volunteers were able to contain the fire to the kitchen area and there were no occupants in the residence at the time of the fire.

Preliminary investigations conducted by the Tasmania Fire Service and the Aurora Energy Electrical Compliance Inspector indicate the cause of the fire to be accidental with the most probable cause to be an electrical fault within the microwave oven.

This unfortunate incident should be a reminder to all to turn off appliances at the power point when not in use. There is strong community awareness about the risks of leaving heaters on unattended but many Australians leave other appliances running which also create potential fire hazards.

In Australia, home appliances caused an estimated 150,000 fires a year, resulting in 150 deaths and more than $500 million in property damage. Although many of those fires are due to human error, defective appliances, such as TV's and computer monitors left on standby, cause a troubling number of fires.

Between 2002 and 2009, appliances caused 69,000 house fires. Investigation found that at least 23 percent of the fires were clearly attributable to problems with the appliances. In some instances, the appliances turned on by themselves.

To find out whether an appliance you own has been recalled, you can go to www.recalls.com. And be sure to register your appliances with the manufacturer so that you're notified in the event of a recall.

Did you know that the electronic age means most appliances these days still use power when they are not turned off at the power point or unplugged? TV's microwaves, computers, stereo systems, dishwashers and washing machines are just a few. If the power is on at the appliance, there is a risk of electrical failure hence the possibility of a fire.

Tips for Electrical Home fire safety,

1. Don't overload power points or power boards.
2. Replace damaged plugs and leads.
3. Use powerboards with overload protection.
4. Never handle electrical equipment with wet hands.
5. Switch off and unplug appliances when not in use.
6. Don't use faulty electrical equipment until it has been repaired.
7. Don't place extension leads under carpets or furniture.
8. Install an earth leakage circuit breaker.
9. Check electrical wiring and switches regularly, especially in older homes. This must be done by an authorised tradesperson.

Brigade Chief Michael Aulich.

St Marys Police report

Over the past few weeks we have had a number of incidents occur in the St Marys area.

There have been two attempted break ins, one each at the Salvation Army Church and at the Woodcraft Guild building behind the St Marys Railway Station. Both of these incidents have had damage caused to entry doors by a person using a screwdriver or like object to attempt to gain entry.

A break in has occurred at the Anglican Church on the Main Street, entry was gained using a similar method and a number of food items have been stolen including frozen chicken, frozen meals, biscuits, herbs/spices, stock and garbage bags.

Also the State Library on Main Street has had a rock thrown through a rear window causing it to break.

We ask that residents in the area be mindful of the incidents which have occurred and keep a look out for any persons acting suspiciously or hanging around buildings which are mostly unattended.

If anybody has any information in regard to these incidents they can contact local police at St Marys Police Station on 6372 1010 or provide information anonymously to Crimestoppers on 1800 333 000.

WOODCRAFT GUILD OPEN DAY 2112

Well, the sun finally overcame it's shyness and peeked through the curtain of clouds to be met by a thunderous applause. The day was to go ahead for our seventh open day and what a great day it turned out to be. All made possible by the following.

Many thanks to Maggie and Lionel Fletcher who advised us that this was their farewell and final market. Maggie and Lionel have supported us from the beginning of our Open Day concept and words cannot express duly how much they will be missed.

Reptile rescue entertained the crowd with their display of our native beautiful snakes...yes I did say beautiful. Cathy & Jim from Bay of Fires Apiaries had us transfixed with how their colony of bees are kept busy to produce organic honey. Our esteemed coopers George Makie and Les Thompson were up to their old tricks as puffs of smoke bellowed from the near completion of another barrel. On a serious note to watch these two at work gives an appreciation of the old techniques which sadly have been made redundant by new technology.

Many thanks to Ted Koops and Paul Byard our two home town musicians whose performance is anticipated every year by the crowd. To Jacinta and Madie from warped productions whose loyalty to our gig makes certain they are available to showcase their beautiful hand loomed scarf's every year. To Heather and Richard Lye whose beautiful felting, glass and ceramic works are always a crowd pleaser and to Graham Derbyshire and Jug who manned our BBQ and gave the Sizzler King a run for his money.

Thank you to Wendy French from "Stand-By" who has always been a strong believer and supporter of our Guild and Open Day. To Cheryl Cox, Kelly Farrell and Toudi whose eclectic mix of soaps, jams, potions and apparel makes for an interesting display of stalls. Thank you to Marcus Hall who every year mesmerizes the crowd with his fettling and tool sharpening techniques and Rosa Byard whose beautiful botanical drawings are not only educational but a delight to the eye.

To the Tasmanian Historical Machinery Club, many thanks for proving that the old engineering techniques have stood the test of time. Thank you to Hannah Rubenach whose demonstration of soap making was enlightening and interesting. To Jane McCann whose coffee recharged and warmed. To Garry King whose recycled timber door displays are testament to this man's skill and design.

To Mr. and Mrs. Shilling for their captivating array of antiques and memorabilia. Who could not forget our Lorraine Gill and Barb McAllister who both have supported us from the beginning. To Jun and Emma for their Chinese delicacies. To our firies, ambulance and police officers, many thanks for making yourselves available. Thanks to Second Hand Rose, the IGA, Pings Place and the Post office for displaying our posters. StarFM, Judy Spilsbury and all the volunteers at the Valley Voice. The Break O'Day Council for permitting us to use the Old Railway Building for our particular day. Tanya Greenwood, The Fingal Valley Neighbour House, Cathy from Building Blocks who did a great job of entertaining the children. Many thanks to the Duck, Gavin from all Trades Hire. Pat Wells who ended up with writer's cramp autographing his picture ... has anyone seen his pen? Thank you to Caroline, Richard and Shaune Craighill who helped with the next day's clean up. To the community of St Marys for their continual support. Many thanks to our hardworking committee whose team work makes it all possible, Col Mackenzie, Wendy Brennan, Wendy Fowler and Ted Koops. Last but not least a thank you to our driving force and President Reon Johns, whose dream it was to keep old wood work techniques available for the next generation and to have an Open Day to give back to the community that we all cherish.

ANZAC DAY SERVICES IN ST MARYS 2012

AN ADDRESS OF A SOLDIER'S STORY GIVEN AT THE DAWN SERVICE BY WENDY BRENNAN THE TRUE "DOGS OF WAR"

I have been asked to give a soldier's story. Although, it will be brief I hope that you too will feel inspired and have a new found respect for the little four-legged troopers I will talk about...the true "Dogs of War".

Australian military forces enlisted the help of man's best friend during World War I when German shepherds were given the task of watching over valuable military equipment. In Vietnam the Australian Task Force included dogs in combat tracker teams. Their task was to search the jungles and with their keen sense of smell, aided our soldiers in the locating of the wounded. Sadly, eleven dogs were left behind as it was against policy to return service animals to Australia.

During World War II specially designed gas masks were designed for the canine division, as they pioneered the way for military backup.

Red Cross casualty dogs were also called "Mercy Dogs". These canines were equipped with packs carrying medical supplies and they would seek out the wounded or give comfort to the dying by staying by a soldier's side. They were trained by their handlers to return with evidence of dying soldiers' identification.

Today more than ten breeds of dogs have found a place in our armed forces. The most common are the German Sheppard, the Labrador and the Aussie mutt. The troops that currently inhabit Afghanistan have even adopted war dogs as mascots for their battalion. Sabi, a black Labrador trained in explosives detection, made headlines when she was recovered after spending fourteen months missing in action. So what makes the canine useful in the art of war? Among their many duties our enlisted buddies have helped carry messages through the trenches, laid telephone wire, carried ammunition and medical equipment from place to place and many are now used to help comfort soldiers afflicted with Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome.

It would take me too long to list the outstanding achievements of these canine warriors. I only hope that the small speech I have given on this ANZAC day gives all present a new and respected insight into our four legged allies.

LEST WE FORGET

Thank you to Peter Mackie from the Vietnam Peacekeepers-Peacemakers Federation of Tasmania. The 5th Battalion Royal Australian Regiment Association. Sister Lorraine Groves, Envoy Melanie Norton, Deputy Mayor Hannah Rubenach, Kevin Faulkner, David Watkins. Our wonderful young adults from St Marys District School who made us all feel proud for their mature and sensitive readings of the Fallen. Namely, Tamieka Davern, Blake Polden and Baden Alexander, not to forget drummer Sam Mitchell. A special thank you to Emily Smith who supplied her beautiful voice to accompany Ian Summers. Ted Koops who helped set up our new P.A. system. Many thanks to T.S. Argonaut, Officer in charge PO Russell Montgomery, Joshua and Lukas McDiarmid, Brittany Smith and Chris Ennis who all stood deservedly tall. Judy Spilsbury and all the volunteers at the Valley Voice. Diane Foster who supplied her historical and poignant picture library and artifacts from her families' collection. The IGA and Grant Faulkner. A heartfelt special thank you to the Targett family who every year has let us keep with tradition by playing "the last post" by the Late Selby Targett. To the community of St Marys for their unflagging support (We the committee apologise that the service was held in the hall. It was a tough call to make weather-wise especially with our new PA system which we were advised could be irrevocably damaged by the rain and thus, dangerous). To Tracy and Mathew our two hardworking council workers who every year makes sure the Cenotaph grounds are manicured. The Break O'day Woodcraft Guild for supplying the tea, coffee and milk. Last but not least to the St Mary's Memorial Services Association whose dedication and hard work has made sure our services will always be made available to remember and honour not only our fallen, but all our young men and women who are at present engaged in active service. May they all be blessed with a safe journey home.

MATCH REPORT VS TRIABUNNA, PLAYED AT DEVONPORT 22 APRIL

A round trip of 500km to play a game of football is a huge ask but we were able to rustle up a team of hardy travellers to meet Triabunna at our first game of the season at Devonport on Sunday 22 April.

Perhaps fortunately Triabunna had similar problems and with the help of a couple of West Coast players we were able to face up with 14 man teams each.

It actually proved to be a very entertaining game of football in wet and slippery conditions. A lot of wide open spaces saw a very fast and open game of football with some great skills on show. St Marys jumped out to a handy lead which they managed to hold most of the day. It was fast end to end football. Unfortunately Mick Symonds aggravated an existing hamstring injury literally within seconds of the game starting but to their credit Triabunna voluntarily took a player off the field to make the game more even.

"Captain Courageous" Roger Salter was obviously in a lot of discomfort with a back injury but refused to leave the field and contributed with a strong game in the forward line including a great goal from a strong contested mark. Darren Jones kicked a freakish goal that would have made any highlights reel in the AFL and Leighton Jordan kicked a sensational goal on the run streaming down the left hand side of the field following some strong defensive efforts – Buddy Franklin look out! "Flounder", a West Coast player that backed up to help us out was also a strong contributor. Triabunna came home strongly in the final quarter but largely due to inaccurate kicking on their part the mighty Tigers were able to hang on and win by a single point.

Final score was St Marys 6.2 38 to Triabunna 5.7 37. Goal kickers - D. Jones 2, R. Salter 1, M. Briggs 1, "Flounder" 1, L. Jordan 1.

Best Players: T. Spike, L. Jordan, M. Cooke, D. Jones, R. Salter and "Flounder".

Genuine and sincere thanks to all the players that made such a huge effort to turn up, your efforts have helped to maintain the reputation of the St Marys Tigers Football Club as a dedicated and committed participant in Masters football. Next game vs Launceston at Launceston (Windsor Park) at 10.30am Sunday 27 May. About time we got the better of Launceston; with our best team on the paddock we should really give them a run for their money.

Harry Veldums,
Club President.

The Say Cagerattler

Fairly soon we are about to embark on the new Mining Tax.. There are many out there who are fearing this tax. Why? Beats the heck out of me. I'm so pleased that at last a Government has the guts to stand up to the multi national mining companies and make them pay back more of the wealth that currently goes overseas.

I recall a figure well over half being quoted, that never sees the light of day in our economy. That's ridiculous. So long as most if not all of that tax is distributed for the common good and for health, education, transport and so on, it'll be money well spent rather than lining the pockets of fat cats that don't even live here.

The WA Government seem to have an idea that the minerals in the ground are theirs.

Someone needs to tell them that Australia is a Commonwealth and for over 111 years we are all entitled to share in common wealth to all our citizens as one nation regardless of where the wealth is. Some have suggested that States like Tasmania don't deserve a share in that wealth. We all need to PROPORTIONALLY, EQUALLY share the proceeds of the resources in this country and that applies across the board in any facet of income divested overseas. Perhaps the Mining Tax should be re-named the Resources Tax instead, to encompass all sorts of off-shore ownership matters. Maybe it will one day.

It was mentioned in the media recently that there have been times in the past when Western Australia and Queensland were propped up too, to offset their local economies. Fair enough too. Who's to say that this may not be the case again someday when the resources boom concludes.

Australia is famous for mate-ship and lending a hand in times of trouble. This should apply in all circumstances and surely a bigger slice of the pie coming back to help all Australians via a Mining Tax is a good way to start.

I was asked to mention the dispute in regard to employment issues at the Council. It is pretty plain to see that this matter has upset the people involved in it and led to a couple of very vigorous meetings last week. Unfortunately these sorts of things are becoming all too common and our local crews involved are being asked to bear the brunt this time. Hopefully for all concerned there will be some meaningful dialogue and intervention and a good resolution might yet occur.

I strongly believe that before any substantial changes are made in any workforce that a decent period of consultation takes place first and with ALL STAKEHOLDERS.

Sometimes ways and means can be found by those involved to achieve those insidious new terminologies such as KPIs (Key Performance Indicators). I hate that jobs can get back to such things...Talk first please...

What do you think?

Hi... my name is Lorraine Townsend
I have just completed my first book called

"Heaven's Special Mum"

- The book is non-fiction (biography). It describes the life of Beryl Wyber through her childhood of twelve years spent in hospital, through the struggle and triumph of regaining a full life in her teens and the tragic end in her early twenties.
- The book is thoroughly researched and provides an insight to the straining hospital system during the polio epidemic in the post war years.
- Lorraine Townsend was 18 months old when her mother died in a tragic accident which Lorraine survived. The heart-rending story of her mother's life is a product of years of research.
- The book is an inspiration of triumph over debilitating hardship.
- It adds a fascinating view of life for those unfortunate enough to be effected by the polio epidemic.
- The book would appeal to any reader of biographies.
- The book has been self-published with <http://www.drawquick.com.au/>.

On the 5th May ... Lorraine will be at the St Mary's Market for a 'meet and greet'... on the day, book will sell for $25.

'Heaven's Special Mum' normal price - $25 + postage $10.

POLICE STOP - 2.00am

An elderly man was stopped by the police around 2 a.m. and was asked where he was going at that time of night.

The man replied, "I'm on my way to a lecture about alcohol abuse and the effects it has on the human body, as well as smoking and staying out late."

The officer then asked, "Really? Who's giving that lecture at this time of night?"

The man replied, "That would be my wife."

GREATER ESK TOURISM

When only the best will do

The Suncoast Gallery is proud to offer a unique range of hand crafted items that are sure to gladden the heart of the Best Mother in Your World. Glenys Anderson's whisper fine pure mohair scarves are just one example of the range of glorious scarves currently in stock.

New member Helen Barnes has boosted the existing range of delightful works of cross stitch that are currently in stock. Her butterflies sampler, a detail of which is shown at left is beautifully framed in Tasmanian blackwood.

Come in and have a look at Eva Cymbalic's tripanel work entitled Houses, and Suzie Hinds' Australian Waratah. Cross stitch works range in price from $45 to $150.

Also joining our ranks is Barbara Grady whose landscapes in acrylic on canvas bring a fresh eye and hand to current landscapes in the gallery. At right is a detail from her work "South Arm". She is also showing a delightful collection of 4 tiny works representing well loved flowers. So if your Mum is a flower lover...

Don't leave your Mother's Day shopping too late because once these one-off items are gone they are gone! And as each one is individually produced with infinite care, it may be a while before stock is replaced!

Shopping at your community gallery is a win win situation. It supports local artists and keeps your dollar spent in the local community. You will find the Suncoast Gallery behind The Wombat Burrow on the sunny side of Quail Street.

Anzac Day

On Tuesday April 24 at 11am we held a whole school ANZAC Assembly that was prepared and presented by our Grade 10 Student Leaders. Very special thanks to Mrs Michelle Montgomery Sub-Lieutenant of Australian Navy Cadets and Commanding Officer of TS Argonauts for participating in our service with Able Seaman Josh McDiarmid, Cadet Lucas McDiarmid and Able Seaman Brittany Smith. Thank you also to Councillor Reon Johns for sharing with us what ANZAC day means to him. Ayla Harvey and Chris Ennis performed their own version of John Lennon's 'Imagine' with Ayla's soulful and heartfelt interpretation leaving the audience transfixed. Her singing was just beautiful.

Congratulations to our Grade 10 Student Leaders for delivering an outstanding service and for respectfully remembering our local fallen soldiers.

St Marys Sports Centre Inc. news Kackhander

Short and sweet this time... In Men's Pennant Golf the club is still chasing it's first win since re-entering the comp but getting closer. The week before last we just missed out 3-4 to Scamander. Wins to Chris Davern, Shaye Ward and Rod McGiveron. Other games quite close too. Last week we had the bye.

This week we take on Bicheno at St Marys, then St Helens at St Marys the following week..Hopefully a win isn't too far off.

Scamander were impressed with the course too and the Tuesday Crew should be proud of their efforts indeed. It really is excellent.

We have indoor bowls coming up, another cards night and lots more to look forward to but a real highlight is going to be lots more club golf happening once the Pennant commitments conclude in a month or so.

The calendar for numerous events is being done now.

As we head toward the winter months we are keen to make the club a hub of activity so every member is encouraged to get behind the club if they can.

Don't forget the East Coast Bowls Dinner and AGM next week for those attending. It should be a top night at the club also. (May 12th).

Until next time, good hitting and rolling.

Sadly I must report the game against the RSL Club was a forfeit. Due to the lack of members not turning up to play. To the members who did thanks. I understand work and family commitments come first.

So if you cannot play on any given night, please contact Bruce at the Hotel so transport can be arranged, also to select a team before travelling to the away games, also home games.

Next Games:-

4th May - Home to Bayside

11th May -Away to RSL Vets.

Hopefully the next report will be a better result.
