WHAT PRICE, PEACE?

Dissent, argumentative states, inconsolable differences, anger, greed and desire are all part of man's inability to come to terms with himself. There are many people in the world, who pride themselves on being humanitarians or world peacemakers, however many seem to have missed the most important attribute for showing peace to others, that is, they are not at peace within themselves.

What man can show peace to another, who has not found peace within himself? It's a hypocrite who tries to change the world before changing the deficiencies in his own life. Most of us will readily agree that we're not perfect, yet so many in their arrogance and pride will state explicitly that they're right and everyone else is wrong, or only they have found the answer while everyone else is ignorant and in need of changing, what foolishness. There appear to be many who call themselves Divine or saved and yet their daily lives do not attest to their Divinity or salvation. A wise man once said, "he who says he knows, usually doesn't, for he who knows no longer needs to talk about it".

Peace is not something belonging to any group of people, it is man's undeniable birthright, the Lord's gift, the gift of right living. Peace is not dependant on wealth, power or educated intelligence, in fact a poor illiterate could more easily find peace than one burdened with the pride of intellectual reasoning.

Peace is that mental restfulness for which we all seek, in all our outer activities we seek happiness and inner calm, and yet it appears as though no matter how much we gain or achieve the happiness gained through outer pursuits is usually short lived.

The world stands poised in a staggering predicament, if our desires are not curbed, if the population growth is not checked, unless worldwide political stability and respect can be achieved the world seems destined for early disintegration. We should learn to love and respect the Earth, it is first and foremost our home, we should learn love and respect for our bodies for it is our vehicle for this worldly life. With love for our homes and our bodies we may truly learn what Jesus taught when he said, "Love one another as I love you". Love with tolerance, care and understanding.

Life is short, take care, relax, there may be many obstacles and difficulties yet to face, many tasks yet to accomplish, it is a fool who casually throws away his life. Let us strive now for good health and a balanced mental attitude, for without those happiness and peace will be lost to us forever.

Live moderately, eat moderately and judge discriminately and the boon of a complete and fulfilling life will be ours.

CHURCH NOTICES

SATISFACTION:

A poor Methodist woman made the following statement: "I do not know when I have had happier times in my soul than when I have been sitting at work, with nothing before me but my lamp and a white cloth, and hearing no sound but that of my own breath, with God in my soul and heaven in my eye.....I rejoice in being exactly what I am -- a creature capable of loving God, and who, as long as God lives, must be happy.

"I get up and look for a while out of the window, and gaze at the moon and the stars, the work of an Almighty hand. I think of the grandeur of the universe , and then sit down and think myself one of the happiest beings in it".

Those are not the ravings of a religious fanatic, crazed by her hyper-enthusiasms. They are the words of truth and soberness. They are the exultant cry of one who has entered into that which satisfies every yearning of the heart and makes one owner of the universe itself—the possession of God.

"The kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit" Rom. 14: 17

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GRAY

PART II

Gray is such a sad and desolate sight now with only a few chimney stacks, some stoney foundations, and an occasional row of pines to mark where many homes used to be when it was a busy community of farmers with large families, small holdings, and bustling hardworking mothers. After Meinas pioneered the way others came to the Gray district and 60 years ago there were 210 inhabitants there with 60 children at the school.

The first school there was where Bert Denny's farm is now, where Mr. Holmes was the stern master. He ruled his big classes with a stick and the kind of strict discipline so frowned upon today, but how could he have coped with all those grades in one school, and he the only instructor unless he was very firm.

Beyond the school was Otto Smith's place, then the William Aulich's, next the new school where Mrs. Macleay now lives. In Thompson's Lane there were two churches, the Methodist and Church of England in which there were regular services well attended by the community. Another nearby farm was owned by the Morris' with their large family, then there were the Coghlan's also with many children and on the opposite side Harry Lehner in his hut, who later on when Mr. Coghlan died married the widow and then they moved to Bruny. There were also the August Galls, the Robert Spears from Ireland with many children, beyond was William White's place which he later sold to the Quinns. Towards the marshes were the Williams, and beyond them the Thornes with all their children.

Towards the outskirts there were other small farms like that of the Coopers on the top side of the road whose son was the Sergeant Cooper stationed at St. Marys for so long. Beyond them was a Mrs. Spencer who having no children of her own kindly brought up some of her brothers.

Joseph John had the largest farm at Gray it was 300 acres. He married Agnes Strochnetter and they produced 16 children before he died at the age of 45 years. Then his son, also Joseph John took on the place living there till he died at 85 years of age.

Nearly all the food eaten by these families was grown on their properties, and the excess was taken by dray to Launceston and even as far away as Bridgewater where bacon would fetch 6 pence a pound, and cheese 4½d.

Dear Sir,

It seems to me rather sad that young people get so bored they break in and steal or smash things up. We are trying to fight inflation and that means us all. We must try and keep prices down by only getting what we really need, what these young people need is an interest. The Valley is crying out for help, wood for old peoples fires, some one to cut their grass or hedges or do something in the gardens and some buildings could do with painting, what about it? young people (Don't be so silly and childish just because you haven't thought about it)

"DONT' LEAVE IT ALL TO THEM"

Pollution of our environment is caused by People - so it is people who must solve the problem, or be over whelmed by it. You and I are people, so what can we do towards a solution? Well there is plenty everyone can do - starting at home - Don't throw away anything that can be re-used - return all bottles that re returnable - put whatever glass is suitable into the hospital collection bins - the chemist will take back some medicine bottles. Make a compost heap - sandwich layers of lawn clippings, vegetable and fruit peelings etc. papers, cartons, food scraps anything of vegetable origin (but not plastics) with layers of earth and any animal manure available (seaweed is good, too) and a sprinkling of lime, and turn the heap occasionally - it will soon rot down into rich earth for your garden.

YOU AND THE LAW

During the past two weeks St. Marys Police have been kept busy with a spat of stealings and other serious accurances.

It all started when several hundred dollars worth of damage was caused to the mechanical loader, at the log plant, near St. Marys railway station. What was gained by the vandal who went to the loader and cut the transmission oil line, let down all the tyres and then endeavoured to drain the fuel tanks, is still a mystery. This we have not solved to date, so if any reader has any information, confidential or otherwise, then we would appreciate a phone call.

Following on a few days later, certain business premises were broken and entered at St. Marys and the safe taken away. I am pleased to say that we have caught up with this one and the matter is well in hand.

Still outstanding for the want of information is the theft of a lady's handbag from a certain public house, last Saturday evening. The bag contained $1200.00, apart from personal possessions, so if you have any information, then dont hesitate to give us a call.

Now to the brighter side of things.

Two ladies who came into the town from outlying districts, each lost a purse containing substantial sums of money. One lady had also lost the keys to her car and you can imagine her dilemma on discovering not only the loss of her purse, but the car keys as well.

Well it all ended on a happy note. The money, purse and keys were all brought to the police station and eventually returned to the owners. Thanks to those honest persons who found the property.

H. F. Alomes
Inspector.

FISHING NEWS.

Members of the St. Helens Game Fishing Club Committee met the Minister for Fisheries, the Hon. L. Costello M.H.A. and Mr. A. Harrison of the Sea Fisheries Division on Monday last at St. Helens. Matters discussed were the operation of purse seining trawlers and beach netting of fish. The Minister advised that he was aware of the importance of the tourist angle of amateur fishing but that a balance must be maintained between this and professional fishing which provided employment to the fishermen and export income to the state. The Committee stressed the point that the amateur had no argument with the professional catching rock lobster, shark or abalone but felt that there should be some control on indiscriminate netting. The recent operations of a visiting party were discussed and Mr. Harrison explained that they were licenced to fish in this manner. However, future applications for this type of fishing could be more closely examined. Full details of this meeting will be given to the Clubs concerned. The most important lesson learnt from this meeting is that amateur sea fishermen must get together in the same way that freshwater anglers do to present a solid front to Government authorities: i.e. join your local club. Next Surf contest will be at Four mile next Sunday 20th Oct. from 2 pm to 7 pm.

MINER'S RIFLE CLUB

The club opened the season on Saturday with a double shoot over 300 yards. C. Toombs was top of the rifle with a score of 65.

Anyone whowants to take up Rifle Shooting with the club will they please get in touch with Walter Scales Captain at Cornwall or Mr. Gilbert Schier Secretary at Falmouth 7215. The next shoot will be held on Saturday 19th October on range at Cullenswood commencing at 1.15PM.

Use soap, instead of detergents, when possible, and use detergents as sparingly as possible.

Don't use coloured paper towels, toilet paper or tissues - the dye can pollute if it seeps from rubbish dumps into creeks etc. Don't buy goods with excess wrappings. When you have to burn sticks, tree clippings etc. too tough for the compost heap, throw your empty tin cans on the fire too - flattened and buried after this, they very soon rust away. And never never throw rubbish about, either in town or country.

CONTENTION

It is said that any organisation is made up of four bones.

There is the wish bones who wish someone else would do the job.

There is the jaw bones who talk and do little else.

There is the knucklebones who knock everything.

And finally the back bones who get under the load, and do all the work.

HOW TO RUIN AND ORGANISATION

1. Don't attend meetings.
2. If you do attend - come late.
3. When you do attend sit at the back, and talk to the bloke next to you about the weather or the cricket.
4. Never accept office, its much easier to criticise than to do something.
5. If asked by the Chairman for your opinion on something just tell him you have nothing whatsoever to say - and then, after the meeting, in the corridor, tell everyone how things should have been done.
6. Hold back your subscriptions as long as you possibly can, so as to give the Secretary a bit of unnecessary work.
7. Start a whispering campaign about the finances.
8. Never subscribe to your journal. This bucks up the editor, and enables him to make constant improvements.
9. Don't bother about getting new members - let someone else do it. After all, there are plenty of others who have time for that sort of thing.
10. In short, do nothing morethan is necessary - but when other members roll up their sleeves and do the lot, howl like mad about how the organisation is being run by a clique.
