EDITORIAL

Persecution is an ugly word and leads to even uglier deeds. This is a world-wide evil, and is happening all over, in Africa, Ireland, Lebennon, Egypt in fact almost everywhere. The evil wish to kill if you're different is easily aroused (if the leaders are evil, or are frightened of difference). But this is not the way to change peoples minds, it only sorts out the strong from the weak ones, and makes others more firm in what they believe, in fact it causes more persecutions because as evil rages the leaders find it necessary to resort to worse measures to get rid of the last of these strong ones. I think the earliest records for persecution are the Jews, because they were different, and its been going on ever since. The Nazis taught a horrid creed, and other people have thought this was a good idea, they would change it to suit their country, but still its a horrid idea and results in people being hounded out of their homes and driven somewhere else, being wounded and killed their belonging being burnt or stolen just slavery under another name. Politicians who are ambitious to shine above their fellow men and have no thought of the welfare of their people make dreadful decisions and mistakes resulting in much cruelty to me, women and children. See the states of Africa where dreadful things are being done for the so-called benefit of each state.

GARDEN NOTES - Companion Plants

Have you tried companion planting as a control for pests in your garden? This is quite exciting and it is effective, after you have done everything possible to provide healthy soil for your plants you may still have insect problems. Plants growing together in the small space of a garden may interact with each other, a tall species will help to shelter a smaller species, one species has a deep root system this loosens the soil to a greater depth for shorter roots and some plants have odour's or juices which are insect-repelling or attracting substances. These will directly influence the growth of other plants or alter the population of micro-organisms that live in the soil, or be effective in the crowded world of animals crawling and flying in and around the roots, leaves and blossoms.

EATING CHRISTMAS CAKE CAN PREVENT BLINDNESS. This is not a medical statement, although nevertheless true.

One again, the Lions Club of St. Marys will be selling Christmas cakes, the proceeds from which will go to save sight and other health projects. Sell cake - save sight campaign, is a national project of the Lions' Club of Aust. Papua NG and Norfolk Is. and this year they aim to raise almost $800,000. The President of St. Marys Lions' Club Mr. Allan Jackson told us that most people figure that since they must have a Christmas cake anyway, they like the idea of helping a worthwhile cause at the same time. Fewer and fewer women are now making their own cakes and sales are getting bigger every year. Cont. page 5

FISHING NEWS

St. Helens Surf Angling Club was forced to cancel the fixture last Sunday. It was decided that the amount of water between fish had been increased by the heavy rain to such an extent that fishing was impossible. The next event will be conducted on 31st October at Wrinklers Beach from 11 am to 4 pm. Unfortunately, this will clash with Scamander Angling Club's bream contest which will be held at Scamander River from 12 noon to 6 pm on the same day. This is a long weekend and Scamander Club members are advised that the date previously shown in the circular is incorrect. However, here is a chance for the "Compleat Angler" to show some skill and win both events on the same day. While on the subject of rain, it is understood that an eightball function last Sunday was seriously affected by the amount of water imbibed by members - they do not like the taste. Some good catches of salmon have been reported from various beaches recently - Hughes Beach, Scamander Wrinklers and Dianna's Basin. Cyril Turner has just taken delivery of a new surf rod which measures 19 feet 1 inch. The maker, Noel Apted, predicts that if the rod does not break in half, Cyril should be a good thing in the distance competition. Professional fishermen stated at their annual congress that salmon had been scarce. They should employ that well known writer and T.V. star to show them where to go for bumper catches. Definition of a fishing rod: a pole with a line attached, with a hook on one end and a fool on the other.
