WHERE HAVE ALL THE TRADESMEN GONE?

The Industrial Training Commission in its 1976 report highlights the failure of the nation to provide sufficient opportunities and tradesmen to meet the needs of our own industry along with most others.

Based on census figures taken by the Commonwealth the report shows a disturbing decline in the number of skilled tradesmen by 12.71 per cent between 1971 and 1975, a trend which if allowed to continue will reach more than 25 per cent after another five years. The tragedy of this is that over this period, as today thousands of applicants for apprenticeships are being forced to join the dole queues because of the twisted priorities of mainly the Federal Government's education financing.

The Building Union is concerned at the lack of jobs for school leavers, although Government Dept. are taking as many as they can. All forces in the industry deplore the fluctuation of apprenticeship intake and training and the lack of any plan for training apprentices - either long or short term. This problem applies to all trades in the industry in varying degrees but one point is very clear - the bricklaying trade is the worst off. This is illustrated by the fact that bricklaying apprentices are trained at the best of times at the rate of 1 to each 20.5 tradesmen.

A comparison is the plumbing trade where apprentices are being trained in the ratio of 1 to 7 tradesmen. The unsatisfactory position of bricklaying trade training is also illustrated by the fact that the average for the industry is one apprentice for every ten tradesman as compared with the bricklaying position now of one to each 20.5.

Another dismal fact is that these figures have been compiled when the industry was enjoying prosperous times, but the situation is much worse now. As is usual the bleak economic winds blow and the first industry to feel the chill is the building industry.

The Trade Unions approach is that the most suitable way of providing tradesmen is through the apprenticeship system. A meeting of the A.C.T.U. Building Group was held on October 15 and the meeting expressed its opposition to the development of ad hoc methods of training and declared very firmly for the apprenticeship system.

The Apprenticeship Commission, through the Technical colleges should be the only authority to train tradesmen.

Fingal State School

On the evening of 22/12/76 I attended together with Mr. R. Gray. M.H.A. a public meeting of approx. fifty people representing a wide cross-section of the community called by the Fingal Parents & Friends Assoc. to discuss the notification by the Education Dept. that the Fingal School staff would be reduced from three teachers to two in 1977. The reason given for this is an expected drop in the number of children from 67 in 1976 to an expected 59 in 1977.

Department advice indicated that the three preparatory children would not be allowed to enrol. I was able to inform the meeting that although Departmental policy and the quota system would not allow more than two full-time teachers for the indicated numbers, it was most likely that a part-time teachers would be appointed on a 12 hour per week basis. LETTER TO EDITOR

CLASSIFIEDS

Dear Sir/Madam,

A friend of mine who owns a shack at Falmouth was shocked recently on returning to Falmouth to discover the extent of damage and loss to her property there.

The tenants were two young men from "good" families in Northern Tasmania. They had been granted tenancy on the basis of a "gentleman's agreement" to respect the owners property.

I have seen the house and the disgusting mess and damage that was done and have been given a list of property stolen. I have advised the owners of the shack to seek legal aid if her approach to the families of these two young louts is not satisfactorily met.

Happy Homecoming? Vandals have been in now we have burnt out saucepans no brooms, mops, sheets, towels, electrical damage $45, curtains damaged, axe, hatchet, spade, rake all gone and many other things.

THE PASSING OF THE YEAR

What did you do for me? said I as I watched the dying year. I would settle accounts before you go from here you failed to bring me all the things you promised at the strait. The fulfilment of my hopes and wishes of my heart.

The "old year opened" his fading eyes, and said reproachfully.

I gave you all I had to give, but what did you do for me? I gave you opportunity and chances that you spurned - many mercies undeserved and happiness unearned. Had you only known he said, I was a friend to you.

And so the old year breathed his last I knew his words were true.....I had been ungrateful, but its too late now I said. Forgive me Lord, and make me wiser in the year ahead.

After much discussion a motion was unanimously carried to the effect that - "a reduction in staff at the school was unacceptable as it must inevitably be reflected in a lower standard of education for the children of the area served by the school."

The meeting also rejected the proposal of a part-time 12-hour teacher and requested a submission to you in the strongest terms for the re-appointment of the present 3 full-time staff members.

I believe it should be emphasised that the economic wealth of our country is generated largely from Forestry, Agriculture and Mining and it is necessary to maintain the highest possible educational facility in such areas as the Fingal Valley to enable these all important industries to maintain a virile and viable work-force. It is becoming continually more difficult to attract employees to these areas because of differences in educational opportunity. Strong evidence of this was given at the Leary, came Burnie to see how contests were run in in this part of the State as a new surf club has been formed in the North-West. He caught on so well that he took home a trophy for a blackback weighting 3 lb 2oz. Perhaps some local members might be advised to visit the N.W. & take a few lessons. Second was Rus Cruise with 2-13½ & third Trevor Jordan 2-II. Junior prize went to Mike DiGioganni with a cocky salmon. Many members were completely out of form as a result of continuous celebrating the New Year.

St Helens Game Fishing Club members are delighted by reports that tuna are being sighted from George's Rocks down to Tasman Island. Keith Tucker & Wayne Richards set the ball rolling on January 6th with 18 bluefin, the heaviest being 79lbs. Keith got so excited that he dived overboard to make sure that the first one did not get away. Tom & Keith boated more last Saturday. Club whisky raffle was won by Vic Tuck.

LIONS CLUB OF ST MARYS

Progress report by Licola Committee
Chairman.

The Lions Club of St Marys, in seeking to extend assistance and opportunity to some of the less fortunate children in the area, has decided to combine with the St Helens Club in sponsoring a group of boys to a camp at Lions Licola Village in Victoria to be held from the 22th to the 29th January. As a result of liason between St Marys Lions Licola Chairman, Lion Dick Chugg, and Lions John Mallinson and Mal Gray of St Helens Lions, six boys have been chosen, three from each District and the necessary arrangements put in hand for the trip. Although as the name implies, the Lions Club of St Marys is based in that town, the three lads being sponsored have been drawn from the fathereast corners of the Clubs area of responsibility with one from Killymoon, one from Mathinna, and one from Royal George and it is hoped that, insofar as Lions is concerned, the unfortunate parochialism that ofttimes rears its ugly head will be dissipated to the benefit of the community at large, if it is demonstrated that this service club is able to rise above such petty issues.

Lion John Mallinson, who will accompany the group as leader, will take off with his group on the 21st January from Launceston Airport on the first leg of what should prove to be an enjoyable and adventurous holiday for the six boys and I've no doubt for Lion John.

Through the good offices of Lion Roger Groom, Licola Chairman for District 2010, John and his group will be billeted with Lions from Melbourne overnight on the 21st before travelling by train to Licola on the 22nd. Similarly on the return journey the group will be billeted and entertained by Lions from Melbourne.

It is hoped that this enterprise will be the forerunner of many more which will be undertaken by both St Helens and St Marys Lions Clubs as another community service.

Leslie Fisher, Steven Watson, Royal George and Barry Lynch.

THREATS TO FALMOUTH

The Falmouth Anti-Progress Association held their annual meeting during the Christmas holidays. The President, Mr A.

Nonmous in presenting his report, stated that the committee were gravely alarmed by recent events. In the last few weeks of 1976 the locality had been infiltrated by various highly trained saboteurs, some claiming to be Members of Parliament, representing the district and others who hoped to be Members. All these people had made the most dire threats, the worst being the provision of an all-weather, all-the-year-round road over the Pass. cont later
